

MAN'S RUIN AND GOD'S REMEDY

NO. 285

DELIVERED ON SABBATH MORNING, NOVEMBER 20, 1859,
BY THE REV. C. H. SPURGEON,
 AT THE MUSIC HALL, ROYAL SURREY GARDENS.

*“And the LORD said unto Moses, Make you a fiery serpent and set it upon a pole:
 and it shall come to pass that everyone that is bitten, when he looks upon it, shall live.”*
Numbers 21:8.

I DO not propose this morning to explain again the mystery of the bronze serpent. As many of you well remember, not long ago I preached upon that subject and endeavored to expound it in all its lengths and breadths. [See Sermon #153, Volume 3—THE MYSTERIES OF THE BRONZE SERPENT—by God's Grace, read/download all 63 volumes of CHS sermons free of charge at www.spurgeongems.org] I have a somewhat similar objective at the present time, the details may, indeed, be different, but after all, the moral will be the same.

Man has very many needs and he should be grateful whenever the least of them is supplied. But he has one need which overtops every other—it is the need of bread. Give him raiment, house him well, decorate and adorn him—yet if you give him not bread, his body faints, and he dies of hunger. Hence it is that while the earth, when it is tilled, is made to bring forth many things that minister unto the comfort and luxury of men, yet man is wise enough to understand that since bread is his chief need, he must be most careful concerning wheat. He therefore sows broad acres with it and he cultivates more of this, which is the grandest necessity, than he does of anything else on his farm. I feel that this is the only excuse I can offer you for coming back again constantly and continually to the simple Doctrine of the salvation of the sinner through Christ Jesus. There are many things which the soul needs—it needs instruction, it needs comfort, it needs knowledge of Doctrine and enlightenment in its experience—but there is one grand need of the soul, which far surmounts every other—it is the need of salvation, the need of Christ. And I do feel that I am right in repeating again and again and again, the simple announcement of the Gospel of Christ for poor perishing sinners. At any rate, I know I seldom feel more happy than when I am preaching a full Christ to empty sinners! My tongue becomes something like Anacreon's harp. It is said of it, it resounded only love—and so my tongue longs to resound Christ, alone, and give forth no other strain but Christ and His Cross! Christ uplifted, the salvation of a dying world! Christ Crucified, the life of poor dead sinners! I pray that this morning many here present, who have no clear views of the plan of salvation, may now see for the first time how men are saved through the lifting up of Christ, just as the poor Israelites in the wilderness were saved from the fiery serpents by lifting up the bronze serpent on the pole.

Solemnly addressing you this morning, I shall need your attention to two things. First—and here, remember, I am about to speak to sinners dead in trespasses and sins—I need your attention to your ruin, and next I shall need your faithful consideration of your remedy.

I. First of all, oh unregenerate Man, you who have heard the Word, but have never felt its power, let me entreat you, lend me your ears while I talk to you of a solemn subject that much concerns you. MAN, YOU ARE RUINED! The children of Israel in the wilderness were bitten with fiery serpents, whose venom soon tainted their blood and after intolerable pain, at last brought on death. You are much in the same condition! You stand there, healthy in body and comfortable in mind, and I come not here to play the part of a mere alarmist; but I do beseech you, listen to me while I tell you, neither more nor less than the simple but dreadful Truth of God concerning your present estate, if you are not a Believer in Christ!

Oh Sinner! There are four things that stare you in the face and should alarm you. The first thing is your sin. I hear you say, “Yes, I know I am a sinner as well as the rest of mankind.” But I am not content with that confession, nor is God content with it, either! There are multitudes of men who make the bare confession of sinnership; the general confession that all men are fallen; but there are few men who know how to take that confession home and acknowledge it as being applicable to them. Ah, my Hearers, you who are without God and without Christ, remember, not only is the world lost, but you are lost, yourself! Not only has sin defiled the race, but you, yourself, are stained by sin! Come now, take the universal charge home to yourself. How many have your sins been? Count them, if you can. Stand here and wonder at them. Like the stars of midnight, or as the sands by the seashore, your iniquities are innumerable! Twenty, thirty, forty, or fifty, perhaps more than 50 years have rolled over your head and in any one of these years your sins might outnumber the drops of the sea! How innumerable, then, have they become in ALL your life! And what if you should say they are but little ones, yet since they are so many, how great has the mountain become! Though they were but as grains of sand, yet are they so many that they might make a mountain that would soar above the stars! Pause, I beseech you, and let your conscience have play for a moment. Count over your iniquities. Turn over the pages of your history and number the blots, if you can, and count the mistakes! But no, you are committing fresh sins while you are recounting these and the denial of your innumerable sins is but the multiplication of them! You are increasing them, perhaps, even while you are counting them! And then think how aggravated they have been. I will not venture to mention the grosser sins into which some of you have fallen. It may be that I have here those who have cursed God to His face—who have asked Him to blast their limbs and to destroy their souls! I may have those here who have ventured even to deny God's Existence, though they have been walking all their lives in the midst of His works and have even received the breath in their nostrils from Him! I may have some who have despised His Word—laughed at everything sacred—made a jest of the Bible, made a mockery of God's ministers and of His servants. Recall, I beseech you, these things to your remembrance, for though you have forgotten them, God has not! You have written them in the sand, but He has engraved them as in eternal brass and there they stand against you! Every crime that you have done is as fresh in the memory of the Most High as though it were committed yesterday; and though you think that the repentance of your gray old age might almost suffice to blot out the enormities of your youth—be not deceived—sin is not so easily put away! It needs a greater ransom than a few expressions of regret or a few empty tears. Oh recall, you great sinners, recall to your remembrance, the enormities you have committed against God! Let your chambers speak; let your beds bear witness against you and let the days of your feasting and your hours of midnight rioting—let these things rise up to your remembrance! Let your oaths roll back from the sky against which they have smitten and let them return into your bosom, to awake your conscience and bestir you to repentance.

But what am I saying? I have been talking of some men who have committed great iniquity. Ah, Sinner, be you whoever you may, I charge you with great sin! Brought up in the midst of holy influences, nurtured in God's House, it may be that some of my unregenerate hearers this morning may not be able to remember a single instance of blasphemy against God. It may be that you have never outwardly done despite to any sacred thing. Ah, my Hearer, remember, your sin may be even greater than that of the profligate, or the debaucher, for you have sinned against the Light of God and against knowledge! You have sinned against a mother's prayers and against a father's tears. You rebelled against God's Law, knowing the Law! When you were sinning, conscience pricked you and yet you did sin; you knew that Hell was the portion of the ungodly and yet you are still ungodly! You know the Gospel of Christ—you are no ignoramus—your mother took you in her arms to the House of God and here you are, even now. Every sin you have committed receives a greater aggravation on account of the Light you have received and the privileges you have enjoyed. Oh, my Hearer, think not that you can escape in this thing! Your sin has bitten you with a terrible bite; it is no flesh wound as you dream, but the venom has entered into your veins! It is no mere scratch upon the surface, but the leprosy lies deep within! You have sinned; you have sinned continually; you have sinned with many aggravations! Oh, may God convict you of this charge and help you to plead guilty to it! Can you not, some of you, if you are honest to yourselves, call to remembrance peculiar sins that you have committed? You remember your sick bed and your vow you made to God—where is it now? You have returned like the dog to its vomit and the sow that was washed, to her wallowing in the mire! You remember that prayer that you offered in the time of your distress? You remember, too, that God graciously delivered you; but where is the thanksgiving that you promised to Him? You said you would give Him your heart. But where is it? Still in the black hand of the devil! You have been a liar to God; you have deceived Him, or you have pretended, at least, that you would give Him your soul and you have not done so. And think, too, of certain special sins you have committed after receiving special warning. Do you not remember going out from the House of God with a tender conscience and then running into sin to harden it again? Do you not remember, some of you, how after being alarmed and startled, you have gone your way and gone to your evil companions and laughed away the impressions that you have received? This is no little sin—to strive against the striving Spirit and to resist the influence that was drawing you to the right path! I beseech you, call to remembrance your sins! Come, don't be cowards! Don't shut up the book—open it! Look and see what you have been and if you have been that which you are ashamed of, I beseech you look it in the face and acknowledge and confess it. There is nothing to be gained by hiding your sins. They'll spring up, Man! If you dig deep as Hell to hide them, they'll spring up! Why not now be honest and look at them, today, for they'll look at you, by-and-by, when Christ shall come in the clouds of judgment! If you look not at them, they'll stare you in the face with a look that will wither your soul and blast it into infinite torment and unutterable woe! Your sin, your sin, should make you tremble and feel alarmed!

But I go further. Sinner, you have not only your sin to trouble you, but there is a second thing—there is the sentence of condemnation gone out against you. I have heard some ministers talk of men being in a state of probation. No such thing—no man has a state of probation at all! You are already condemned. You are not today, my unregenerate Hearers, prisoners at the bar about to be tried for your lives. No, your trial is over; your sentence is already past and you are, now, this day, condemned! What, though no officer has arrested you; though death has not laid his cold hand upon you; yet Scripture says, “He who believes not is condemned already because he believe not on the Son of God.” Man, the black cap is on the judge's head! He even now declares you lost, no, more than this—if you would rightly know your own estate, you are standing—mark that, my careless Hearer—you are standing under the gallows, with the rope on your neck and you have but to be cast off from the ladder by the hand of death and you are swinging in eternity, lost and ruined! If you only knew your position, you would discover that you are criminals with your necks on the block this morning and the bright axe of Justice is gleaming in this morning's sunlight. God alone knows how long it is before it shall fall, or rather how soon you shall feel its keen edge and its edge shall be stained with your blood! You are already condemned! Take that home, Man; your sentence is signed in Heaven and sealed and stamped—and the only reason why it is not carried out is because God in mercy respites you! But you are condemned and this world is your condemned cell from which you shall soon be taken to a terrible execution!

Now you do not believe this. You think that God is putting you on your trial and that if you behave as well as you can, you will get off. You think that in some future day you may yet blot out your sin. But when the criminal is condemned, there is no room left for good behavior to alter the sentence. When a capital sentence is passed upon him, that sentence is not to be moved by anything that he can do! And your sentence is passed—passed by the Judge of all the earth—and nothing you can do can alter that sentence! The Law of God leaves no room for repentance! Condemned you are and condemned you must be! Unless that one way of escape, that I am forthwith about to explain, shall be opened to you by God's rich Grace—you are condemned already!

Now let me ask you one question before I leave this point. Sinner, you are condemned today. I ask you this, whether you do not deserve it? If you are what you should be and what I hope the Lord will make you, you will say, “Deserve it, yes, that I do! If I never committed another sin, my past sins would fully justify the Lord in permitting me to go down afire into the pit of Hell.” The first sin you ever committed condemned you beyond all hope of self-salvation—but all the sins you have committed since then have aggravated your guilt and surely, now, the sentence is not only just—but more than just! You will have, one day, if you repent not, to put your finger on your lips and stand in solemn silence when God shall ask you whether you have anything to plead—why the sentence should not be carried into execution. You will be compelled to feel that God condemns you to nothing more than you deserve, that His sentence is just—a proper one on such a sinner as you have been!

Now, these two things are enough to make any man tremble, if he did but feel them—his sin and his condemnation! But I have a third to mention. Sinner, there is this to aggravate your ease and increase your alarm—your helplessness, your utter inability to do anything to save yourself—even if God should offer you the chance. You are today, Sinner, not only condemned, but you are dead in trespasses and sins! Talk of performing good works—why, Man, you cannot; it is as impossible for you to do a good work while you are what you are, as it would be for a horse to fly up to the stars! But you say, “I will repent.” No, you cannot! Repentance is not possible to you as you are, unless God gives it to you. You might force a few tears, but what are those? Judas might do that and yet go out and hang himself and go to his own place. You cannot repent of yourself! No, if I had to preach this morning, salvation by faith apart from the Person of Christ, you would be in as bad a condition as if there were no Gospel whatever! Remember, Sinner, you are so lost, so ruined, so undone, that you can do nothing to save yourself! Your wound is so bad that it cannot be cured by any mortal hand; your inability is so great that unless God pulls you up out of the pit into which you have fallen, you must lie there and rot for all eternity! You are so undone that you can neither stir hand, nor foot, nor lips, nor heart, unless Divine Grace helps you. Oh, what a fearful thing it is to be charged, tried, condemned and then, moreover, to be bereft of all power! You are today as much in the hand of God's Justice as a little moth beneath your own fingers. He can save you if He will; He can destroy you if He pleases; but you, yourself, are unable to escape from Him. There is no door of mercy left for you by the Law and even by the Gospel there is no door of mercy which you have power to enter—apart from the help which Christ affords you! If you think you can do anything, you have yet to unlearn that foolish conceit; if you fancy that you have some strength left, you have not yet come where the Spirit will bring you—for He will empty you of all creature pretension and lay you low and dash you in pieces and bring you in a mortar and pound you—till you feel that you are weak and without strength and can do nothing!

Now have I not, indeed, described a horrible position for a sinner to be in? But there is something more remaining—a fourth thing. Sinner, you are not only guilty of past sin and condemned for it, you are unable—and even if you were able—you are so bad that you would never be willing to do anything that could save yourself! And even if you had no sins in the past, yet you are lost, Man, for you would go on to commit sin in the future. For this know—your nature is totally depraved! You love that which is evil and not that which is good. “No,” says one, “I love that which is good.” Then you love it for a bad motive! “I love honesty,” says one. Yes, because it is the best policy. But do you love God? Do you love your neighbor as yourself? No, and you cannot do this, for your nature is too vile! Why, Man, you would be as bad as the devil, if God were to withdraw all restraint and let you alone! Were He but to take the bit out of your mouth and the bridle from your jaws, there is no sin that you would not commit! Do you deny this? Do you say, “I am willing. I am willing to be holy and to be saved.” Then God has you so; for if not, you would never be so by nature. If you should go out of this hall and say, “I hate such preaching as that.” I would but reply, “I knew you did.” Though one should say, “I will never believe that I am so lost as that,” I would say, “I did not think you ever would—you are too bad to believe the Truth of God.” And if you should say, “I will never be saved by Christ. I will never bow so low as to beg for mercy and accept Grace through Him,” I would not be surprised, for I know your nature—you are so desperately bad that you hate your own mercy! You despise the Divine Grace that is offered to you—you hate the Savior who died for you, for if not, why do you not turn right now, Man? If you are not as bad as I say you are, why not now go down on your knees and cry for pardon? Why not now believe in Christ? Why not now surrender yourself to Him? But if you should do this, then I would say, “This is God's work; He has made you do it for if He had not done it, you would not have been humble enough to bow yourself to Christ.” Let Arminianism go to the winds; let it be scattered forever from off the face of the earth—man is totally unable to feel his misery or seek relief—if he were able, he is totally unwilling! The sinner could not help the Holy Spirit, even if the Holy Spirit needed the help of man to perfect His own operations. What? Can it be possible that any man will say the creature is to help the Creator—that an insect of an hour is to be yoked with the Ancient of Days—the Eternal—that the clay is to help the potter in its own formation? Why, even if we grant the power, where would be the sympathy or the willing hand? Man hates to be saved! He loves darkness and if he has the light, it is because the Light of God thrusts itself upon him! He loves death with a fatal infatuation and if he is made alive, it is because the Spirit of God quickens him, converts his wicked heart, makes him willing in the day of His power and turns him unto God!

Have I not now, this morning, made a most awful indictment against you? Mark, I mean it for every living man, woman and child in this Hall who has not faith in Christ! You may be fine gentlemen or grand ladies; you may be respectable tradesmen and very upright in your business, but I charge you before Almighty God with being sinners, condemned sinners, sinners that cannot save yourselves, and sinners, moreover, who would not save yourselves if you could, unless Divine Grace made you willing! You are sinners unwilling to be saved! What a fearful indictment is this read in the face of high Heaven! May some sinner as he hears it be compelled to say, “It is true; it is true; it is true of me! O Lord, have mercy upon me!”

II. Having thus set before you the hard part of the subject—THE SINNER'S RUIN—I now come to preach of HIS REMEDY.

A certain school of physicians tell us that, "like cures like." Whether it is true or not in medicine, I know it is true enough in theology—like cures like. When the Israelites were bitten with the fiery serpents, it was a serpent that made them whole. And so, you lost and ruined creatures are bid, now, to look to Christ suffering and dying, and you will see in Him the counterpart of what you see in yourselves! While you are looking to Him, may God fulfill His promise and give you life. A remedy to be worth anything must reach the entire disease. Now Christ on the Cross comes to man as man is. Not as he may be made, but as he is. And it does this in the four several respects which I have already described.

I charge you with sin. Now in Christ Jesus behold the sinner's Substitute—the Sin-Offering. Do you see yonder Man hanging on the Cross? He dies an awful death. In Him prophecy receives a terrible accomplishment—of Him Almighty Vengeance makes a tremendous example! Jehovah has cast off and abhorred Him; He has been angry with His Anointed. The terrors of the Lord are heavy on His soul. And why does that Man, Christ Jesus, die?—not as Himself, a sinner, but as numbered with transgressors? O Soul, if you would know the terrors of the Law, behold Him who was made the curse of the Law! If you would see the venom of the fiery serpent's bite, look to yonder bronze serpent. And if you would see sin in all its deadliness, look to a dying Savior! What makes Christ die? Sin, though not His own! What makes His body sweat drops of blood? Sin! What nails His hands? What opens His side? Sin! Sin does it all! And if you are saved, it must be through yonder Sin-Offering, yon dying, bleeding Lamb! "But," says one, "my sins are too many to be forgiven." Stop awhile. Turn your eyes to Christ. Sometimes when I think of my sin, I think it is too great to be washed away, but when I think of Christ's blood, oh I think there can be no sin great enough for that to fail in cleansing it every whit! I seem to think, when I see the costly price, Christ paid a very heavy ransom. When I look at myself, I think it would need much to redeem me; but when I see Christ dying, I think He could redeem me if I were a million times as bad as I am! Now remember, Christ not only paid barely enough for us, He paid more than enough! The Apostle Paul says, "His Grace abounded—"superabounded," says the Greek. It ran over! There was enough to fill the empty vessel and there was enough to flood the world besides! Christ's Redemption was so plenteous, that had God willed it, if all the stars of Heaven had been peopled with sinners, Christ need not have suffered another pang to redeem them all—there was a boundless value in His precious blood! And, Sinner, if there were so much as this, surely there is enough for you!

And then again, if you are not satisfied with Christ's Sin-Offering, just think a moment—God is satisfied—God the Father is content and must not you be? The Judge says, "I am satisfied. Let the sinner go free, for I have punished the Surety in his place." And if the Judge is satisfied, surely the criminal may be! Oh, come, poor Sinner, come and see! If there is enough to appease the wrath of God, there must be enough to answer all the requirements of man! "No, no," says one, "my sin is such a terrible one that I cannot see in the Substitution of Christ that which is enough to meet it." What is your sin? "Blasphemy." Why, Christ died for blasphemy—this was the very charge which man imputed to Him and therefore you may be quite sure that God laid it on Him if men did. "No, no," says one, "but I have been worse than that. I have been a liar." It is just what men said of Him. They declared that He lied when He said, "If this Temple is destroyed, I will rebuild it in three days." See in Christ, a liar's Savior as well as a blasphemer's Savior. "But," says one, "I have been in league with Beelzebub." Just what they said of Christ! They said that He cast out devils through Beelzebub. So man laid that sin on Him and man did unwittingly what God would have him do. I tell you, even that sin was laid on Christ! Come, Sinner, there is not a sin in the world with one exception which Jesus did not bear in His own body on the tree. "Ah, but," says one, "when I sinned, I sinned very greedily. I did it with all my might. I took a delight in it." Ah, Soul and so did Christ take a delight in being your Substitute! He said, "I have a Baptism to be baptized with and how am I straitened until it is accomplished." Let Christ's willingness respond to the suggestion that your greediness in sin can make it too heinous to be forgiven. "Ah," cries another, "but, Sir, I always acted with such a bad heart—my heart was worse than my actions. If I could have been worse, I would. Among all my companions in vice there was not one who was so greedy of it and black in it as I." Yes, but, my dear Hearer, if you have sinned in your heart, remember, Christ suffered in His heart. His heart-sufferings were the heart and soul of His sufferings. Look and see that heart all pierced and the blood and water flowing therefrom and believe that He is able to take away even your heart of sin, however black it may be.

"Yes," I hear another self-condemned one exclaim, "but I sinned without any temptation. I did it deliberately in cold blood! I had become such a wicked, beastly sinner, that I used to sit down and gloat over my sin before I committed it." Ah, but Sinner, remember before Christ died He thought of it. Yes, from all eternity He meditated on becoming your Substitute! It was a matter of premeditation with Him and, therefore, let His forethought put aside your forethought. Let the greatness of His previous thought upon His Sacrifice, put away the grievousness of your sin, on account of its having been committed in cold blood. Does there yet come up some sobbing voice—"I have been worse than all the rest, for I did my sin by reason of a covenant which I made with Satan. I said, 'If I could have a short life and a merry one, I would be content.' I made a covenant with death and I made a league with Hell." And what if I am commissioned to tell you that even this bite is not incurable? Remember, Jesus, the Son of God, made a Covenant on your account. It was a greater Covenant than yours, not made with death and Hell, but made with His Father on the behalf of sinners! I want, if I can, to bring out the fact that whatever there is in your sins, there is its counterpart in Christ. Just as when the serpent bit the people, it was a serpent that healed them; so if you are bitten by sin, it is, as it were, your sin's Substitute—it is your sin laid on Christ that heals you! Oh, turn your eyes, then, to Calvary and see the guilt of sin laid upon Christ's shoulders and say, "Surely He has borne our griefs and carried our sorrows," and looking to Him you shall live! Secondly, here is a remedy for the condemnation. I said you were not only sinners, but condemned sinners. Yes, and Christ is not only your Substitute for sin, but He is your condemned Substitute, too. Look at Him! He stands at Pilate's bar, is condemned before Herod and Caiaphas and is found guilty. No, He stands before the awful bar of God and though there is no sin of His own put upon Him, yet inasmuch as His people's sins were laid on Him, Justice views Him as a sinner and it cries, "Let the sword be bathed in His blood!" Christ was condemned for sinners that they might not be condemned! Look up, look away from the sentence that has gone out against you, to the sentence that went out against Him! Are you cursed?—so was He—"Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree." Are you condemned?—so was He and there was one point in which He excelled you! He was executed, and that you never shall be, if you look to Him now and believe that He is able to save you and if put your trust in Him!

In regard to the third particular. Our utter helplessness is such, that as I told you, we are unable to do anything. Yes, and I want you to look at Christ—was not He unable, too? You, in your father, Adam, were once strong, but you lost your strength. Christ, too, was strong, but He laid aside all His Omnipotence. Look at Him! The hands that hold the world hang on a nail! Look at Him! The shoulders that supported the skies are drooping over the Cross! Look at Him! The eyes whose glances light up the sun are sealed in darkness! Look at Him! The feet that trod the billows and that shaped the spheres, are nailed with rude iron to the accursed tree! Look away from your own weakness to His weakness and remember that in His weakness He is strong and in His weakness you are strong, too! Look at His hands. They are weak, but in their weakness they are stretched out to save you! Come look at His heart. It is torn, but in its cleft you may hide yourself! Look at His eyes. They are closing in death, but from them comes the ray of the Light of God that shall kindle your dark spirit! Unable though you are, go to Him who Himself was Crucified through weakness, and remember that NOW, "He is able to save them to the uttermost who come unto God by Him." I told you—you could not repent, but if you go to Christ, He can melt your heart into contrition, though it is as hard as iron. I said you could not believe, but if you sit down and look at Christ, a sight of Christ will make you believe, for He is exalted on high to give repentance and remission of sins!

And then the fourth thing. "Oh," cries one, "you said we were too estranged to be even willing to come to Christ." I know you are. And therefore it is He who comes down to you. You would not come to Him; but He comes to you this morning and though you are very evil, He comes with sacred magic in His arms to change your heart! Sinner, you unwilling, but guilty Sinner—Christ stands before you this morning, He who was made in the likeness of sinful flesh, a Man and a Brother born for adversity—and He puts His hand in your hand and He says, "Sinner, will you be saved? Then trust in Me." Ah, if I preach the Gospel, you will reject it! But if He preaches it, you cannot. I think I see the Crucified One finding His way in that thick crowd under the gallery and going between the ranks seated here, and above, and everywhere—and as He goes along, He stops at each broken-hearted sinner and says, "Sinner, will you trust Me? See, here I am, the Son of God, yet I am Man. Look at My wounds. See, still, the nail marks and the prints of the crown of thorns. Sinner, will you trust Me?" And while He says it, He graciously works in you the Divine Grace of faith. But are there any who, looking Him in the face, can reply, "You Crucified One, we cannot trust You; our sins are too great to be forgiven"? Oh, nothing can grieve Him as much as to tell Him that! You think that you are humble saying it—you are proud! You are despising Christ while you think you are despising yourself. And is there one in all this great assembly who says, "This is all twaddle; I care not to hear such preaching as this"? No, I do not ask you to care for what I speak. But Jesus, the Crucified One, is standing by your side and He asks you, "Sinner, have I ever done anything to offend you? Have I ever done you a displeasure? What hurt have you ever suffered at My hands? Then why do you persecute your wife for loving Me—then why hate your child for loving One who did you no hurt? Besides," He says, and He takes the veil from His face, "did you ever see a face like this? It was marred by suffering for men—for men who hate Me, but whom I love. I need not have suffered. I was in My Father's house, happy and glorious—love made me come down and die. Love nailed me to the Cross and now will you spit in My face after all that?" "No," said a young man to me this last week, "I found it hard to love Christ, but," he said, "once upon a time I thought, 'Well, if Christ never died for me and never loved me, yet I must love Him for His goodness in dying for other people.'" And I think if you did but know Christ, you must love Him. You would say to Him, "You dear, You suffering Man, did You endure all this for those who did hate You? Did You die for those who murdered You? Did You shed Your blood for those who drew it from Your veins with cursed iron? Did You dive into the depths of the grave that You might lift out rebellious ones who scorned You and would have none of You? Then dissolved by Your goodness, I fall before Your feet and I weep! My soul repents of sin—I weep—Lord accept me, Lord have mercy upon me."

Did you think I had run away from my point? So I had, but I have brought you back to it. You know I was to show that Christ could overcome our depravity. And He has done it in some of you while I have been speaking! You hated Him, but you do not hate Him now! It may be you said you would never trust Him, but you trust Him now! And if God has done this in your heart, this is the true end of preaching—the best way of keeping to the subject is for the subject to be brought home to the heart. Ah, dear Hearers, I wish I had a better voice this morning. I wish I had more earnest tones and a more loving heart, for I do feel when I am preaching about Christ, that I am a poor dauber. When I want to paint Him so beautifully, I am afraid you will say of Him, He is not lovely! No, no. It is my bad picture of Him. But He is lovely. Oh, believe me, He is a loving Lord! He has a heart of compassion! He has a heart overflowing with the most tender affection. And He bids me tell you—and I do tell you—He bids me say, "This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance, that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners of whom I am chief." And He bids me add His kind invitation, "Come unto Me, all you who are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn of Me, for I am meek and lowly in heart and you shall find rest to your souls." Do not believe what the devil tells you. He says that Christ is not ready to forgive. Oh, He is more willing to forgive than you are to be forgiven! Do not believe your heart, when it says that Christ will shut you out and will not pardon you. Come and try Him, come and try Him! And the first one that is shut out, I will agree to be shut out with him! The first soul that Christ rejects after it has put its trust in Him—I risk my soul's salvation with that person! It cannot be! He never was hard-hearted and He never will be! Only believe and may He Himself help you to believe. Only look to Him and may He Himself open your eyes and enable you to look and this shall be a happy morning, for though I may have spoken feebly, as I am too conscious I have, God will have worked powerfully! And unto Him shall be the Glory forever and ever. Amen.
